Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 27 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with showers throughout. Feeling colder than recently.

Today:
A cloudy day throughout, with scattered showers through the morning, primarily in northern areas initially, but affecting southern parts through the afternoon. Turning heavier towards the evening. Feeling mild, but colder than recently, with winds remaining light throughout the day. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
The showers become more grouped through the evening, and generally heavier, before easing towards dawn. Winds strengthening slightly overnight but easing off again into the morning. Milder than recently. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another cloudy day, with further showers, though primarily in southern areas, with northern areas affected towards noon. Turning dry through the evening and overnight. Feeling colder than recently. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Largely dry on Thursday with some scattered showers in the afternoon. More frequent showers on Friday and Saturday, with sunny spells in-between. Days colder than recently, with night frosts possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.